Evan's Story

Donate in honor of Evan, who succumbed to a genetic metabolic disease in 2007. Evan was a sweet, cheerful boy who charmed everyone he met. Though he received a cord blood transplant and there was hope for a cure, a virus attacked Evan's weakened immune system and he lost his fight for life. By joining the National Marrow Donor Program's "Be the Match" registry, you can help ensure that other patients have a chance for a healthy life. The difference in life is you!
